

Mission-critical performance when you're in deep water.

SouthEast Water Limited is ready for anything since Expert Software Services migrated their emergency logging system to Microsoft SQL Server.

With database failures and network performance hampering its emergency call centres system, South East Water Limited pursued a state-of-the-arts solution. After an extensive investigation, they chose Expert Software Services to implement a new high-performance version of this mission-critical system.

Expert Software Services migrated the existing system to Microsoft Visual Basic v5 and Microsoft SQL Server v6.5. By putting the business rules in stored procedures using Transact SQL, response times were greatly improved. Plus the power of Windows NT delivers a high-availability, highly fault-tolerant system, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

No company understands what it takes to build Windows NT-based enterprise solutions like Expert Software Services. Our qualified professionals deliver cost-effective client/server, data warehousing, Internet/intranet, electronic business and collaborative solutions. From design through implementation to support and maintenance.

So if you need to outsource your software services completely, want help with overflow, or have a critical emergency, call Expert Software Services today.
